My special place I chose is my horse's stable. I picked this because it is my favorite place to go and I love drawing horses. It was easy to decide my favorite place because I had a hard time coming up with three ideas. I just wanted to do my stable. All I think of is horses and I draw them all the time. I was happy we had a project that I could draw my horse.

I chose to do a drawing but I wanted to add some clay so I did. I liked how that technique came out. The clay looked really good with the drawing. My style was realistic and I used different mediums together. The medium I used was oil pastel, some cardboard for the wood on the stable and white clay. This is mixed media. I think the mediums and materials worked well and I like how my art turned out. I think it is different because it is not just a drawing. I added other materials. But it is not 3-D.

The horse I drew is one of the best I have done. I don't think I would do anything different. Maybe rearrange some things and have people see more of the stable. I really like how it looks. When people see my art I want them to have a feeling of fun and joy. I want people to know how much I love horses and maybe they love horses too.
