

Our piece highlights our artistic statement by showing how three unique genres of dance can come together to create one cohesive work. In our artistic statement we focused on how different pieces hold a unique voice, but through the choreographic process we discovered how within every piece each dancer has a individualized voice and we would like to clarify that within our statement and intent.