

Use of Choreographic Elements: Dancers utilize multiple choreographic elements, such as levels, space, time and music, to create a cohesive dance composition.

Communication: Dancers author and convey a clear message to the intended audience.

Collaboration: Dancers work together when developing choreography in addition to performing as an ensemble.

Creativity: Dancers produce unique and varied outcomes based upon the assignment.